

Coal or kerosene? The government needs the coal. The less coal used this summer the more there will be for winter when it's needed most. Every housewife can help by using an oil cook stove in her kitchen instead of a coal range. Will you?

NEW PERFECTION OIL COOK-STOVES

not only save coal for war purposes and home heating but they mean less work for the women who have them. They're less trouble to operate than a coal range. Nothing hard to understand. Simply strike a match, light the wick and regulate the heat as easily as you turn a lamp up or down. Isn't that easier than carrying wood or coal and bothering with the ashes every day?

Also, the results are better, for you have the heat at one place, right under the pots and pans—not over the whole stove and over the whole kitchen.

But for perfect results always use Atlantic Rayolight Oil. Ask for it. Don't buy unbranded kerosenes. They look the same but they're not. Atlantic Rayolight Oil is so highly refined that it gives the most heat and all without smoke, sputter or smell. Go to your dealer now and ask to see New Perfection Oil Cook Stoves. And then be sure to use Atlantic Rayolight Oil.

A Second Appeal

TWO weeks ago the Telephone Company requested all telephone users to please refrain from asking the operators for the correct time, explaining that this request was necessary because of the considerable volume of such calls which, if eliminated, would so reduce the abnormal calling volumes as to permit of a redistribution of both operators' service and telephone equipment, and result in the Company's ability to care for the very heavy telephone demands of the present and the even greater demands for service which are expected in the months to come.

It was explained that the same service on the part of the operators, the same length of time, and an equal general use of telephone equipment are necessary to answer such questions as are required to complete an ordinary connection.

While the response to this request has been very gratifying and the volume of such calls has decreased appreciably, the burden has not been entirely lifted.

We, therefore, again bring the matter to the attention of those users of the service who did not read, or who were not impressed by our earlier appeal, urging them to discontinue the practice of depending upon the telephone operator for the correct time.

The Telephone Company feels that it can count on a continuation of the public's helpful attitude which will be of very real assistance in meeting the ever-increasing volumes of telephone calls and demands for telephone service.

Press Vital to Victory in War.

"The patriotic newspapers and magazines of this country are indispensable to victory," declared Edward N. Hurley, chairman of the United States Shipping Board, at a Chicago banquet last week. "Where the cause is right, as ours is, success depends upon the fullest and fairest statements of the facts to the people. One of the greatest factors in our progress has been the wholesome support of the American press."

A test takes only a few minutes.

Just a little precaution now may save you later from the inconvenience of a motor that refuses to turn over—from lights that are dim when they should be brilliant—from actual damage to your battery.

When you come in be sure to remind us that you want to look at the Still Better Willard Battery which is the only battery with the "Bone Dry" principle that is your absolute assurance of getting a battery as new as the day it left the factory.

WAR BULLETINS

British and French troops advance in Flanders and along the Aisne to a depth of one mile and a half respectively. The British attacked on a front of three and one-half miles. The French blow took in four and one-half miles. The ground gained was of much value to the enemy as a starting point for any further offensive measures.

The enemy is trying hard to penetrate the allied air defenses, but is relentlessly driven back or shot down. Allied troops in the Balkans are holding fast against the Germans and Bulgarians, said Major General Scriven, who has returned from a tour of military observation.

British troops in a night operation took a German strong point in the Lys salient east of Hazebrouck, capturing prisoners and machine guns.

The Italians have buried 14,000 Austrians on the west bank of the Piave.

Czecho-Slovak troops operating in western Siberia have captured Ekaterinburg, in the center of the Ural mining country.

A new sector held by the American troops in Alsace is in the region northwest of Gebweiler. This sector is not far from the famous Hartmannswillerkopf, the scene of so much hard fighting in the past. The Americans are now holding a considerable front in three different sectors in Alsace.

The Americans took the remainder of Belleau Wood. The German losses in killed and wounded were extremely heavy. They also lost at least 254 prisoners, including a captain and six other officers. The Americans captured many machine guns.

WASHINGTON

The senate accepted Secretary Baker's judgment of not changing draft ages.

An increase of 10 per cent. in wages of wood pulp mills employees is ordered by the War Labor Board. The Federal Trade Commission announces it will reconsider the latest price fixed for news print to meet the new condition.

Publishers' pleas for relief from the new postal rates, effective July 1, fail to move House Ways and Means Committee, which is said to be a unit against any change in the present law.

Anti-suffrage filibustering again prevented the passage of the woman suffrage amendment in the senate.

Carrying an amendment providing for national prohibition as a war measure, but not fully effective until June 30, 1919, the $11,000,000 emergency agricultural appropriation bill was reported to the senate.

Nearly 800,000 young men of twenty-one, who registered for military service last June 5, had their order in the draft classes fixed by a second national draft lottery, held with formal ceremony at the senate office building.

Gen. Nelson A. Miles urges government to send armed force and military instructors into Russia and save nation from Germans.

Secretary Baker requested that no action be taken by Congress to raise the draft age to forty years until studies now being made are completed and a report is compiled and a plan adopted by the army department. His request is likely to be complied with.

The Marine Corps issued a call for ten electricians at the aviation field at Miami.

The administration proposes to send a group of experts representing the industries of America to Russia to extend practical aid and recommend further assistance. The commission will be informal and details of the project will be withheld to prevent its misrepresentation by Germany.

The house rejects compromise with the senate to give Major General Barnett, commander of the marines, a rank equivalent to that of lieutenant general.

President Wilson is reported to have given his approval to a universal military training proposal that will be embodied in Secretary Baker's man power program promised for September.

Governor McCall of Massachusetts announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for United States senator in opposition to Senator Weeks.

In opposing extension of the draft age at this time Secretary Baker tells Congress there will be 3,500,000 Americans under arms in August, of whom 1,450,000 will be in France, and there will still be 877,000 left in Class I.

German-American War

American troops under General Pershing are holding eight important positions from Alsace to Montdidier, besides operating at vital points with the French. American troops are seen everywhere in France, and their brilliant action at Belleau Wood has won the praise of Premier Clemenceau.

President Wilson sent to the senate the nominations of eight major generals and 43 brigadier generals. The selections were made by General Pershing and General March, the officers' capabilities winning promotion over seniority. Among the colonels advanced to brigadier generals were Cornelius Vanderbilt of New York and Douglas MacArthur, now chief of staff of the Rainbow division.

The latest account of the Americans' victory at Belleau shows that the troops from overseas in addition to killing or wounding many of the enemy took 311 prisoners, 11 machine guns and 10 automatic rifles and a large quantity of ammunition and other war stores.

For the moment the Germans seem resigned to their loss to the Americans of the Belleau wood, northwest of Chateau-Thierry. No counter attacks have been made in an endeavor to regain the lost ground.

SPORTING

The completion of a deal whereby Pitchers Robert Steele and Carmon Hill of the Pittsburgh National League club, come to the Kansas City club of the American Association, was announced by George Muehlbach, president of the latter club.

"Hans" Wagner, former major league baseball star, has enlisted with the Home Defense Police of Allegheny county and was sworn in as an officer of the law, with jurisdiction in his home town, Carnegie, Pa.

Pitcher Purdue of the New Orleans team was purchased by Minneapolis of the American Association.

S. Kasiro, a Japanese, won a semi-final round match in the Middle States tennis championship.

Jimmy Burke, coach of the St. Louis Americans, was appointed manager of the team by Phil Ball, president of the club, to succeed Fielder Jones, who resigned two weeks ago. Burke joined the Browns the first of the season, coming from Detroit.

Besides making all those home runs Ruth has found time to play a little left field, a little center field, do some work at first base and pitch nine complete games.

Heine Zimmerman continues to play fine ball at third base.

Johnny Evers, who has won the plaudits of millions of baseball enthusiasts for many years, is all ready for the trip overseas. When Johnny arrives in France as the "baseball generalissimo" behind the firing lines he probably will be given a great reception.

FOREIGN

Secret treaty between the Germans and the Bolsheviks denounced by a new newspaper as a "scandalous document" showing the treachery of the Bolsheviks and the baseness of the Germans.

There have been no reliable reports from the front since the middle of June and it is now impossible to say whether the fighting has been continued or not.

President Wilson's peace policy is being attacked by the German press. The German press is saying that the peace policy is a betrayal of the American people.

Moscow is reported to have been captured by General Khabalov and Nominov, supported by German troops, although the fact that both generals previously have been reported dead throws doubt on this dispatch.

Many conflicting stories regarding the reported assassination of ex-Czar Nicholas have been received. He is reported safe by the embassy in Berlin.

W. M. Hughes, premier of Australia, speaking before the London Chamber of Commerce, said Von Kuchemann's speech was a clear admission that the vaunted German drive was barren of gain.

On June 1, 1912, he was made inspector general of the division, with the rank of lieutenant colonel. Attached to the Twenty-second Engineers, he went to the Mexican border as a member of Major General O'Ryan's staff in 1916. His appointment as colonel came in 1917.

U. S. TO HELP RUSSIA

President Decides on Policy at Special Cabinet Meeting.

Sending of American Troops to Russia
Not Precluded in Proposed Plan.

Washington. — The United States' policy towards Russia has been decided on by the President, it was learned, and action will be taken shortly.

The President has made up his mind completely on the general features of the policy he intends to follow. Announcement of it, it is understood, waits only upon the working out of certain details. The decision was reached at a meeting which the President had with his cabinet advisers.

The rebuilding of the Slav nation through peaceable aid to the people of Russia is the chief thought underlying the President's plan. This provides: First, for the sending of a new commission to Russia, to be headed by the ablest man who can be found for the task, and, second, for an offer of co-operation in the re-establishment of agriculture, trade and industry.

Under no circumstances and by no inference is military intervention to be undertaken by this government. Emphasis is laid on the fact that this country is not to extend relief to Russia, but that its policy is to be entirely one of mutual aid.

There is still to be determined also the authority in Russia to which this government will make its proposals. Whether it will be the Czecho-Slavs, who are variously reported as strongly organized in Siberia, or whether it is to be the Soviet or some other power in Russia affairs cannot yet be definitely stated.

American troops may go into Russia under the policy determined upon, but it is stated they will not go in any guise that can be taken for armed military intervention. They will go as organized railroad construction units, as foresters, as transport men and as industrial organizers.

Their only military duty will be to police and to protect the great American stores and supplies that are now in Russia and that are to go there. They will aid Russian authority, but will in no sense dominate.

JULY 4 AS FRENCH HOLIDAY.

Proposed Amendment in Chamber in U. S. Ambassador's Presence.

Washington. — A bill that the House of Representatives passed last night was introduced in the Chamber of Deputies by the French ambassador, M. de Bessieres, at the request of the French government.

Members of President Wilson's peace policy are being attacked by the German press. The German press is saying that the peace policy is a betrayal of the American people.

Resolution Withdrawn After Much Parliamentary Jockeying.

Washington. — Efforts to bring the house resolution proposing submission of the Susan B. Anthony equal suffrage amendment to the federal constitution to a vote in the senate failed.

After three hours of debate and parliamentary jockeying before crowded galleries expecting final action on the franchise proposal pressed for 40 years, the resolution was withdrawn by its managers.

GERMANS BEATEN ON TWO FRONTS

Official Report Shows 4 1/2-Mile Front Pierced by Allies to a Depth of 1 1/4 Miles.

MAY PRELUDE OFFENSIVE.

Allied Positions Much Improved in Important Sector Lying Just North of Merville by Addition of "Elbow Room."

Paris.—The allied armies attacked suddenly in two widely separated sectors on the west front, driving the enemy back about a mile in each assault on a total front of eight and a half miles.

In Flanders the British east of Nieppe Forest launched a blow at dawn on a front of three and a half miles. Attacking at the point where the Germans in their drive on Ypres tried to reach Hazebrouck, the British forced the foe back and gained new defensive positions. They captured three towns—L'Epinette, Verte Rue and La Becque—and reached the line of the Plate Becque river. Three hundred Germans were taken prisoner.

Unable to organize quickly in the face of the powerful surprise attack, the Germans were forced to fall back rapidly. They inflicted only a few casualties on the attacking forces.

Following up their other successes west of Soissons, on the west wing of the Crown Prince's salient in the Champagne, the French drove forward on a five-mile front between Ambleny and Montgobert. Pushing their lines forward to the heights west of Curry and to the hill south of St. Pierre Aigle, they held their gains and took 1,000 prisoners.

At two other points on the battle front the allied troops made minor gains. In an attack northwest of Montdidier the French advanced their lines in Seneval Wood and took 100 prisoners.

Australian troops near Merris, in the same region of the British advance before Nieppe Forest, attacked simultaneously and captured certain German outposts. Forty-three prisoners were taken.

The artillery battle increased on the front before Amiens. Berlin reported violent allied gunfire in the Lys valley (in the region of the British infantry attack) and south of the Aisne (where the French advanced).

Russian Situation Confusing.

From many points in Europe there came the following reports concerning Russia:

Prof. Paul Milukoff and Alexander J. Guchkoff, foes of the Bolsheviks, arrived at Harbin, Manchuria, and placed themselves at the head of a counter-revolutionary movement, a dispatch from Amsterdam said. Milukoff and Guchkoff are both strong supporters of the allied cause.

German forces co-operating with the Cossack leaders, Generals Korniloff and Kaledine, have captured Moscow and overthrown the Bolshevik government, according to an Exchange Telegraph Company's dispatch from Copenhagen printed by it "with reserve."

Lenine and Trotzky are reported to have fled to the Murmansk coast.

Grand Duke Nicholas Nikolaevitch, uncle of the former Czar, has been proclaimed emperor, some accounts have it.

Grand Duke Michael, brother of the deposed Czar, now at Omsk, Siberia, heading an anti-Bolshevik revolt, is said to have refused the throne, saying he would have the decision to a popular assembly.

Former Czar Nicholas was again reported to have been assassinated, but late reports from Berlin said he was safe.

WORLD'S NEWS IN CONDENSED FORM

WASHINGTON.—President Wilson purges a bill to amend the Espionage Act, which would make it a crime to publish or disseminate information that might be injurious to the national defense.

PARIS.—The French government has decided to send a new commission to Russia, to be headed by the ablest man who can be found for the task, and, second, for an offer of co-operation in the re-establishment of agriculture, trade and industry.

GENEVA.—The League of Nations has decided to send a new commission to Russia, to be headed by the ablest man who can be found for the task, and, second, for an offer of co-operation in the re-establishment of agriculture, trade and industry.

LONDON.—Russia is in a state of indescribable suffering. It is a frequent sight to see people drop dead on the streets from starvation.

Hundreds of famished citizens are ravenously digging through the rubbish heaps others lick the paste off the street posters.

The Sheely Brothers Barn Wind Storm Loss

This barn, a new one, was one of the largest, the best built, the most up-to-date barn in Southern Pennsylvania, yet it did not withstand the wind storm, and the loss is thousands of dollars.

The loss is partly covered by cyclone insurance issued at Martin Winter's office.

The cost of this kind of insurance on a farm barn is $3.75 per $1000 insurance for three years (the rate on houses being over).

The question therefore for every property owner is.

Does it pay to rise the loss of $1000 for three long years to save $3.75.

It requires less than five minutes to destroy a barn, and there are a good many five minute periods in three years.

EAT NO WHEAT

WHEATLESS DIET NOT INJURIOUS

Howard Heinz, State Food Administrator, So Assures People of Pennsylvania.

Wheat can be cut out entirely from the diet without injury to health. This assurance is given to the people of Pennsylvania by Howard Heinz, Federal Food Administrator for the state. He said:

"I make this assertion without reservation, on the authority of the most eminent scientists in America, who have investigated the question most thoroughly. They concluded their investigation recently at the request of Herbert Hoover, U. S. Food Administrator. The Board of Inquiry was composed of such men as Dr. R. H. Chittenden, Professor of Physiological Chemistry, Dean of the School of Medicine, University of Maryland; Dr. Graham Lusk, Professor of Physiology at Cornell; Dr. E. V. McCollum, Professor of Biochemistry at Johns Hopkins; C. L. Alberty, Chief of the Bureau of Chemistry of the U. S. Department of Agriculture; Dr. F. C. Langworthy, Chief of the Home Economics Division, State Extension Service, Department of Agriculture; Dr. Alonzo E. Taylor, Professor of Physiological Chemistry at the University of Pennsylvania. The other members of the board are men of equal prominence in scientific achievement. No group of higher physical authority could be assembled in America. To them was put this question: 'To what extent can wheat to which we are now accustomed in our diet be reduced without injury to the health of the individuals of the nation?' Their answer was: 'It is the scientific opinion of the committee that in a mixed diet wheat may be entirely replaced, without harm, by other available cereals, namely, rice, barley, corn and oats.'

"It is only because of the great national and international emergency which exists that the Food Administration makes use of this deliberate judgment of the physiological experts called in for advice. It is recognized that because of economic and commercial reasons not all of the people of the country can go without bread based on wheat, but it is certain that a great many people can do so easily, and it is my belief that most of the people in this country who can dispense entirely with wheat from now until the next harvest ought to do so, for the sake of maintaining the wheat bread supply for the armies and civilians of our fighting associates in Europe, as well as for our own soldiers in France."

FOOD LICENSES REQUIRED

All Wholesalers and Jobbers Come Under the Federal Act.

All wholesalers, jobbers, brokers or commission dealers in food supplies must take out a license to do business under the food regulations, whether their annual business in the gross amounts to one hundred thousand dollars or not. Dealers who are strictly retailers are exempt from the necessity of a license if their gross annual business is less than one hundred thousand dollars. Dealers doing a combination wholesale or jobbing and retailing business no matter how small must take out a license. Any person who makes any sale to retail dealers, hotels, restaurants, or public places is a wholesaler or jobber and is required to take out a license.

The foregoing points with reference to the interpretation of the Federal Food Control Act were brought out by Howard Heinz, Federal Food Administrator for Pennsylvania. Mr. Heinz desires to make it clear that the rule requiring licenses applies to all wholesalers and jobbers regardless of the volume of business they transact.

So long as the boys are at the front, difficulties are to be subdued, impossibilities to be trampled down.

MOVEMENT TO SAVE THRESHING WASTE

Assistance to Farmers in Hardest Time Planned by the Government.

A project to mobilize America's threshermen to save millions of pounds of wheat, now lost by inefficient threshing practices, is announced by Howard Heinz, U. S. Food Administrator for Pennsylvania.

To do this, a special Grain Threshing Division has been created as a part of the Food Administration Grain Corporation in Washington, with Captain Kenneth D. Hequemabour, U. S. R., at its head. Captain Hequemabour is actively engaged in wheat production in Oklahoma, and for some years has had first-hand experience in the grain business. The Grain Threshing Division will have national headquarters at the office of the U. S. Food Administration Grain Corporation, 42 Broadway, New York City.

It is estimated that from one to ten per cent of the wheat crop is lost to the country by hurried and careless operation and inefficiency of threshing machines. In some instances, however, losses are materially greater than in others. Waste in threshing depends largely upon the condition of the machine as it enters the harvest field and the care with which it is operated.

It is estimated that a total of three and one-quarter bushels in every hundred threshed may be saved.

Threshermen's assistants will be located in each state to co-operate with threshermen requiring expert help. The threshermen's assistants will be called upon by County Threshing Committees whenever needed. Their duty will be to advise in overhauling the machines, to assist in acquiring expert labor, to supervise repair jobs when the owner so desires and the time permits. The County Threshing Committees will be composed of the County Food Administrator, the County Agricultural Agent, and a retired thresherman representing the state or local Council of the National Defense.

CLEAN YOUR FARM TOOLS

Necessity Exists Now For Strictest Conservation of Machinery.

M. T. Phillips, one of the farmers' representatives in the U. S. Food Administration for Pennsylvania, suggests to farmers of the state the advisability of a special care this year in the matter of farm machinery in view of the seriousness of the manufacturing situation and the scarcity of materials. Mr. Phillips said:

"The present high cost of all farm machinery and repairs of all kinds makes it most essential that every care should be exercised in keeping in order all machinery, tools, etc., used on the farms."

"It takes but little time to rub off the dirt and rub some oil on the harness, at least a few times during the year. This will preserve the leather that is so expensive and necessary just now."

"Clean up the machinery and tools and see that they are repaired when put away, and if kept under cover when not in use, they will be ready to go to work when next needed."

"We farmers are justly criticized for the extravagant waste caused by the unnecessary exposure and lack of care of our machinery."

"This is surely a very serious time to conserve in these serious times."

There's not a pair of legs so thin,

There's not a hand so weak and white,
Nor yet a heart so sick,
But it can find some needful job that's Pointers for Auto Drivers.

Harrisburg—Numerous complaints have been received by State Highway Commissioner J. Denny O'Neil regarding speeding and reckless driving on the public highways of Pennsylvania by automobilists and motorcycleists. A great many accidents have been reported to the Department, caused by reckless driving. In numbers of instances, police authorities were unable to secure the license number of offenders, on account of the license plate being disfigured or covered with grease.

Owners of motorcycles, in many cases, it has been reported, have been bending their license plates in such a way that only a part of the number could be read.

Commissioner O'Neil declares that the public, particularly women and children, must be safeguarded and protected from speed fiends and reckless drivers. He requests the cooperation of the various police authorities in the various counties to see that all motor vehicle license number plates are in the proper place and kept in such condition that the number can be easily ascertained, also, that operators of motor vehicles keep their number plates straight, so that the number may be legible at all times.

Commissioner O'Neil also directs the attention of all motor vehicle owners and operators to Section Seven of the Automobile Law, relating to number tags, which states that "they shall be kept free from oil, grease, dirt, or other substances likely to impair their legibility," also, that motorcycles must display a license plate "to be so fastened as to be entirely unobscured, and to be kept reasonably clean."

Allen's Foot-Ease for Soldiers and Sailors.

The Plattsburg Manual advises all men in training to shake Foot-Ease in each shoe every morning. This protects the feet from blisters and sore spots, relieves the pain of corns and bunions and freshens the feet. Makes walking easy. Sold everywhere.

RAISE THE LIMIT

Every farmer who has access to a pile of stable manure or who keeps live stock on his farm should have a good manure spreader, a Corn King, this year. Don't let power and help conditions keep you from raising as much as you can on every acre. Use a Low Corn King spreader and either fertilize your fields before planting or top dress your growing crops this year. There is no easier, surer or better way to secure a paying increase in crops from every acre you plant. How would a thirty-bushel to the acre increase in corn, or a ten-bushel increase in wheat look to you this year? All right, then buy and use a

Low Corn King Manure Spreader

Wheels just the right distance apart, and spread wide enough to top dress three rows of corn at once. Threesizes—small, medium and large. All narrow boxes. All steel frames with working parts of the spreader securely attached to the frame. Turns short. Drive from both rear wheels. Return apron driven by worm gear which insures even spreading up hill and down. Pull comes straight on steel frame. Solid two-inch rear axle working in Roller bearings carries seventy-five per cent of the load. All steel beater cannot warp, shrink, or rot. Built up to International Harvester standards of quality in every respect.

Buy a Corn King spreader and use it. The increased yield from a few acres will pay for your spreader this year. Come in and place your order NOW.

CONGOLEUM Gold Seal ART-RUGS

"That Seal Guarantees Congoleum Quality,"
—says the salesman, pointing to it on the rug.

"We are glad they put the Gold Seal where you can't help seeing it, because it protects both you and us."

"We recommend Congoleum Art-Rugs wherever a low-priced floor-covering is desired for there is nothing else that answers the purpose so well. First, it is sanitary and easy to keep clean. There is no buildup in a Congoleum Rug, so water won't hurt it. A damp mop will keep the colors clear and bright."

"Second, a Congoleum Rug is very durable. The surface is wear-resisting and absolutely sanitary. Then, too, it lies perfectly flat without any fastening."

"And remember, this Gold Seal which is on every genuine Congoleum Art-Rug, guarantees every good point I have told you about them."

"The most surprising thing about Congoleum Art-Rugs is their low price. Let us show you the many beautiful designs in our stock."

Baldness
Conquered
RECIPE MAILED FREE
A veteran business man, who was almost completely bald and had tried numerous tonics, lotions, shampoos, etc., without benefit, came across, while on a journey, an Indians' recipe by which he grew a complete crop of healthy, luxuriant hair that he now possesses.
Others—men and women—have reported remarkable hair growth by the same method. Whoever wishes the recipe may obtain it free by writing to John Hart Brittain, BA-222, Station F,
New York, N. Y. Or obtain a box of the ointment, Kotalko, made according to the perfected recipe, at the drug store, ready for use.
Indians' Secret of Hair Growth
In a vast number of cases, when hair falls out, the roots are not dead, but remain imbedded in the scalp, alive, like seeds or bulbs, needing only fertility. The usual alkaline shampoos, alcoholized hair tonics, etc., are of no avail in such cases. The Indians' ointment nourishes the hair and stimulates the growth.
Kotalko fertilizes the scalp and induces hair growth in every case possible; wonderful results reported. For men's, women's and children's hair. If you are bald, or losing hair, or have dandruff, you should try Kotalko. It is a pleasure to observe the starting of new hair and its steady increase until a prolific growth supersedes thin hair or baldness. Cut out this notice; show to others who want beautiful hair.
The recipe is free. This is genuine.

PROS-TONE
"THE UTAH SECRET"
Is one of those "once-in-a-lifetime" discoveries that seem heaven-sent to a waiting world at studied periods—the milestones which mark the world's enlightened progress. PROS-TONE is the life monument of achievement to the credit of a physician who prescribed the formula for diseases of a nervous origin and for kidney and bladder troubles for thirty years in private practice. He first used it to relieve engineers and other employees of one of our great western railroads of which he was the physician. His great success led to its extensive use for nervous disorders by the patients of the Keely Institute of Salt Lake, Utah.
Results were so wonderfully beneficial, the good doctor finally decided his duty toward mankind was to lay it as marvellous and PE-CULIARLY SPECIALIZED BENEFITS
before the public—to acquaint weak, suffering, nervous, debilitated men and women with what PROS-TONE would REALLY DO. He was influenced in his decision to disclose his great secret of renewed health and vitality by two most influential members of the medical franchise who had used the formula of PROS- TONE in their private practice and perfected the result of their combined experience and judgment was the improved formula under which PROS-TONE is now made.

Reward of the Politician.
When Ollie James, now junior United States senator from Kentucky, first broke into politics in his native county of Crittenden he had occasion to try a case before a rural magistrate. When the trial was ended, says the Saturday Evening Post, the magistrate invited the young lawyer to go home to dinner with him. As they sat down at the table the old man said:
"Ollie, it pains me mightily to see you messin' in with politics."
"Why so?" inquired James.
"Ollie, my son," said the magistrate "politics ain't a fittin' pursuit for any young man. Look at me! I started in politics when I was young and hopeful, just like you are now. I have held all the positions of trust in the gift of the people of my home district—I have been school trustee, road supervisor and constable, and justice of the peace. But now, as an old man, all I've got to show for my years of ceaseless political activity is a lot of warm enemies and cold friends."

The French like peas cooked in lettuce leaves in the top of a double boiler or laid in lettuce leaves in the top of a strainer. Sometimes, too, they add a parsley leaf or a mint leaf to peas in the cooking to give them flavor, but the plain favor of well-cooked green peas is very pleasing without any additions.

HUNS TEST AMERICANS
Gen. Pershing's 1,000,000 to Face Next Terrific Blow.

Known For Success Against Americans to Help Quiet the People at Home.

Washington.—General Pershing's men, now upward of a million strong in France, will bear the brunt of much of the fighting connected with Germany's supreme offensive effort, expected to be launched between Rheims and Verdun, according to information reaching military circles here. There are furthermore indications that the German high command, for more reasons than one, will make particular efforts to strike hard at the American forces during the coming drive.
The news that the British have advanced their line about a mile on a front of three and a half miles and that the French in a separate movement advanced a mile and a quarter on a front of four and a half miles southwest of Soissons may mean, according to military men, that General Foch already is taking advantage of Germany's plan to deplete these sectors in order to mass troops along the Rheims-Verdun sector.

The location of the probable points of attack and the scope of the next onslaught are said to be based on aviators' reports concerning massing of German troops and on other information of a confidential military character.
The sectors which would be brought under direct attack would include those which American troops have held for months and would bring Americans into the center of the German effort to surge forward.
It is known here that the German high command regards it now as very important to chronicle a success of major character against American troops.
Much of the political unrest in Germany is due to the fact that the U boats have failed to prevent large forces of Americans from reaching Europe.
The German people are beginning to realize, it is explained, that the increasingly large number of American troops is becoming more and more a bar to ultimate victory. There is therefore a general demand in Germany for some move to offset the prospective danger, and Ludendorff is said to realize that the only possible means of coping with the "American menace" is on the battlefield.

Baby Love

By K. T. JOHNSON

(Copyright, 1918, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Prof. Gregory Davis did not wear spectacles and he was not absent-minded, and his friends told him that he looked more like a business man than he did like a professor, and the only reason he did not bolt the professor business altogether was because of Gertrude. Gertrude Robbins was a pretty little trained nurse who ran the baby milk station near the city college where Gregory lectured. And Gertrude told him that night that he proposed and she accepted, that one of the things she especially liked about him was that he was a professor and would have all day Saturday holidays and long vacations. And when Gertrude Robbins jilted him, there was no more excuse for Gregory's being a professor, so he resigned at the end of the next vacation and the day the vacation began set about to start in his career as a business man. Gregory wasn't at all sure why he had been jilted.

He rehearsed the incidents of the day of the calamity to himself many many times, and still he could find no fault in his conduct. He had gone to the immaculately white-tiled baby-milk station between lectures one morning on some trumped-up pretext, and when Gertrude got through showing two Italian mothers how to give their babies baths, showing another how to modify milk, and weighing several squalling infants, she had time to see him. Meantime he waited in an anteroom peopled by babies—fat babies and thin babies, babies overweight and babies underweight. It was enough to try any man's patience. Still, he had waited and tried his best to look as if he enjoyed the situation. He talked to her a little while there at the station and found her moody when he called in the evening to take her home. The next morning came the note telling him that she had discovered he was not the man to make her happy, and that she realized her temperament was too different from his to permit her to become his wife. So Gregory took his medicine. And having cast about in his mind to determine which one of his successful business friends he would most like to emulate, he went to see his college mate who had succeeded his father as owner and manager of Snell's dry goods store.

Young Snell had an income about ten times as great as Gregory's as a college professor, and seemed to lose no social prestige because over the counters of the store which he owned were sold bargain hosiery, dishpans, birdseed and undisciplined trumpery. Having read inspirational articles in popular weeklies pointing out the necessity on the part of the man who aims at business success of beginning at the bottom rung, Gregory asked Snell for a job in the store. He would not wait for an opening in the executive offices—and as a matter of fact he would have had small qualifications for such a job—but he would take anything that happened to be available, and thereby learn the system upon which was built up the great mercantile enterprise.

"Sorry, Greg," said Mr. Snell, "but the only job just now is that left vacant by old Hopkins. But I'll take you at your word. Hopkins checked the babies out in front—were a uniform with brass buttons. Don't mind doing that, do you? He was an old codger and finally resigned on account of old age. Gets his pension now from my employees' benefit association."

"Well, what would I have to do?" faltered Gregory.

"Well," quoth Snell, "our store makes a great point of catering to the young mothers—run a big line of infants' wear, toys, baby carriages, etc. Old Hopkins used to stand out there and when the mothers came along with baby carriages he would hang them safe until the mothers came back. Sometimes he would have as many as fifteen all lined along the curbstones. Didn't have to put tags on them, or anything. He'd keep them separate just the same as the darkey at the club can keep the hats without checks. He was a great drawing card. The babies liked him and he'd take time to talk to the mothers and compliment them on the kids. I'd hesitate to say how much business he brought into the store every year. As a matter of fact I've got my eyes open looking for an old fellow something like Hopkins to take his place, but temporarily until I get him, you'll do. Another job inside will be open by that time, and in the meantime you can be earning your salt and sizing up the kind of people that come into the store. You showed your good sense, Gregg, in leaving that teaching business. Within a year, if you stick here, I'll show you how to earn twice as much as you earned at the college, and the wedding bells will be ringing for you and that little trained nurse in no time."

Gregory stared hard at the legs of Snell's desk, but he did not correct him. He was not particularly anxious to pose as a jilted man. It was humiliating enough to have to enroll as a baby checker.

"Do I have to wear the brass buttons?" he asked. "It seems a little conspicuous."

Snell assured him that he did, and that the sooner he got rid of all notions of false pride, the surer he would be of making a success.

"It's a big city," said Snell, "and although my store is a money-making proposition, it's not high class. It isn't likely that any of the girls you know shop here, or in this immediate neighborhood. So put on a stiff upper lip, practice baby talk, and you'll be all right."

Gregory did manage to learn some important things during the three weeks that he served as baby checker. But they were not details in the art of pacifying babies. He studied the women as they came and went, overheard their comments, and noted carefully just what window displays the various people who passed took time to note. The experience did contribute to his later success as partner of Snell & Co's. But there was more than one fond young mother who felt relieved when an older, graver, mellower employee donned the brass-buttoned coat that went with the baby checking job.

Gregory got into a most serious difficulty one day when he gave an absent-minded nurse the wrong baby and had nothing but an irritable, pampered, blonde two-year-old to offer an Italian mother whose own offspring had raven curls, jet eyes and a bubbling disposition. Hopkins had a magic in his "Hush, hush," with which he addressed a child impatient for his mother's return, but Gregory tried first jouncing the carriages violently, as it had seemed to him he had seen mothers do on similar occasions, and then addressing the babies with some such remark as, "Can the squawks. Shut up!" But all in vain. As an infant pacifier he would have taken no medals.

He got used to the brass buttons, and, save once or twice, when he saw approaching girls he had known and danced with in his halcyon days as professor, he did not regret wearing them. What did he care if the young girls who worked in the store taunted him over his choice of a profession? What did he care about girls, anyway, now that he had been jilted? He was sure that Gertrude would not see him in his new guise, since he recalled that she got all of her own apparel at a well-known shop of much higher rank in the hierarchy of department stores. He did not know, however, that when Gertrude had the task of aiding some poor mother in getting the most for her money in the way of baby clothes, she went to Snell's, and he did not know that in the short time he had been there at the door of the store, she had passed and repassed him more than once in her merciful work.

It was the day that Snell promoted his old classmate to be his personal assistant that Gregory received a letter forwarded from his college address to the department store. It was from Gertrude, and it asked him to call and see her at the milk station at six that evening.

There were tears in her eyes when she greeted him.

"Can you ever forgive me?" she said. "I misjudged you cruelly. I know now that in your heart you love them as much as I."

"Lo—love what?" queried Gregory.

"Babies, of course. There are few men who would have shown that love as you have—to spend your vacation standing there in that uniform. And I think that perhaps you did it to prove to me how wrong I have been in thinking—"

"In thinking what?" he asked breathlessly.

"Why, that you hated babies," she said. "It was on that last day that you were here. I thought—but of course I was mistaken—that there was something in your expression that showed that you didn't like them. When you were sitting out there."

"Yes, out there with a dozen or so of them, yelling their heads off," he said, changing his tone because it was imperative. "Ah, Gertrude, how you misjudged me! But now you know."

Music Liked Best.

He—Most girls, I have found, don't appreciate real music.

Second He—Why do you say that?

He—Well, you may pick beautiful strains on a mandolin for an hour and she don't even look out of the window, but just one honk of a horn and—out she comes!—Leigh Burt.

FOR ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, CATARRH, COLDS, LA GRIPE, ETC. CONSUMPTION PREVENTIVE—NOT A PATENT MEDICINE.

There are few diseases more prevalent than Asthma; few more distressing and painful and few more tenacious and dangerous. The several forms are known to medical science as Bronchial Asthma, Catarrhal Asthma, Hay Asthma (later more commonly known as Hay Fever). Repeated attacks result in a chronic Asthmatic condition, the symptoms of which are a dilation of the lungs and bronchi, and tubercular formations. La Grippe and even the simple cold neglected often lead to fatal results. There is nothing more menacing to one's health than the ordinary cough or cold. THE EIKER HOFF REMEDY is a specific for all of the above troubles. It has helped and relieved thousands and will help you. THE EIKER HOFF REMEDY is in no sense a patent medicine, but is a legitimate prescription and the outcome of years of study, investigation and experiment by Prof. Hoff, one of the world's leading physicians. If your druggist does not keep it, upon receipt of $1.00 either cash or money order, we will send a bottle with full directions to any part of the United States or Canada. Within the past ten years thousands of testimonials have come to us from sufferers cured of Asthma, Bronchitis, Catarrh and Hay Fever. Every home should have a bottle always on hand as a specific for the simple cold. See that the "Bulls Eye" trade mark is on every bottle. One is genuine. © WILLIAMS MEDICINE CO. 108 Fulton St., New York City.

Wondering About the Football Boys. "Every year, along about this time," grumbled the Old Codger, "we behold in the newspapers many pictures of huge, hulking, disheveled young lunkheads, with knobs at the knees of their short pants, wading straddling, with their arms akimbo, and gloomily ominously from beneath their mops of hair. They bear the designations of 'Captain Trunk' of the Hyenas; 'Lubberty, the famous left-end,' 'McLout, drawback,' or something of the sort. And as we gaze at their likenesses we are moved to wonder:

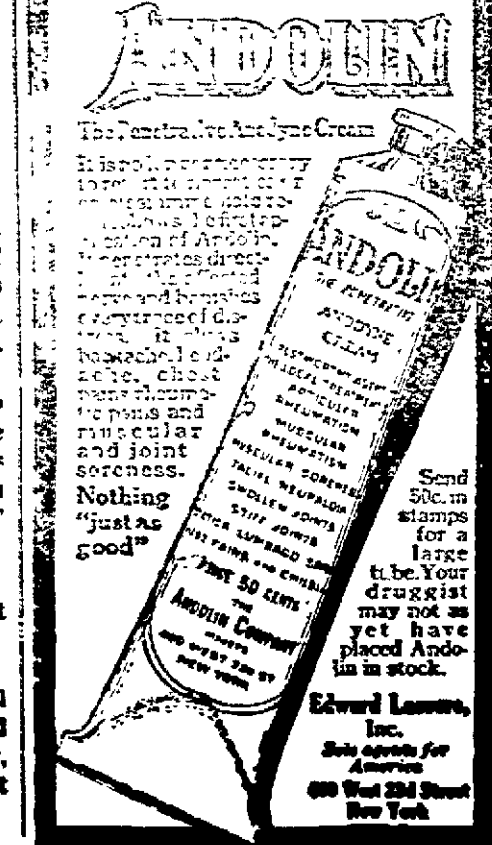

- (a) What do they do the rest of the time?
- (b) Why do they do this at all?
- (c) Would a little plain work prove fatal to them?
- (d) Couldn't they quit football and try to be happy and useful and ornamental all at the same time?

Wane of Motherhood. Ellen Key, writing in one of the magazines, deplores the wane of motherhood, a constantly increasing disinclination to assume its responsibilities, she says, being everywhere apparent. The disinclination is not confined to any one class, she says, but the work-worn drudge and the idle creature of luxury are both averse to it.
